WHICH ARE THE OBJECTIVES?

Identify common challenges and good practices in the response phase;

Describe tools that policymakers and CBRN managers can use to plan and implement CBRN response plans;

Establish a network of regional stakeholders to improve coordination in the “day after” phase of a CBRN incident.

The end goal is to harmonize approaches in the response to CBRN events at the national and regional level.

MAIN ACTIVITIES

2. Two regional workshops in South-East Asia and the Middle East (with the support of the Gulf Cooperation Council) to collect feedback and validate the toolkit.

DATA COLLECTION STRATEGY

CBRN experts

Preparation of a reference document to collect data (challenges and best practices in CBRN response)

Missions to selected countries (Indonesia, Lebanon, Qatar) to discuss the project with relevant stakeholders.

Introductory meetings with Malaysia and agencies

IDENTIFIED CHALLENGES

1. Lack of specific units with CBRN knowledge in the first response teams
2. Lack of fast formal channels of communication among the relevant stakeholders
3. Need to define specific roles and SOPs
4. Lack of training and equipment
5. For detection, need for a larger sample library and processing capabilities of the samples
